

CRO Services - Functional Matrix Management Solutions

RxRESEARCH Services CRO™ (RxRS CRO) provides the highest caliber resources to ensure your trials start as scheduled, deliver the high quality data you require, and come in on-time and on-budget. With you retaining control of your trial, our services are wrapped around your internal capabilities, so that we can rapidly and efficiently initiate and execute your trials.

Our functional CRO services are managed in a matrix we design uniquely for every trial we support. We partner with you and intertwine your staff and ours to create one seamless team. RxRS CRO delivers the most qualified clinical operations staff using our time-tested and exhaustive screening capabilities to identify, evaluate and select only those candidates that precisely meet your trial requirements. Once assembled, the team will be trained and managed with our rigorous guidelines, so that you deliver trial results as promised. RxRS CRO delivers our cost-effective model with on-shore execution at off-shore rates.
